REIQ RESEARCH EXPLANATORY NOTES

SALES MARKET DATA

All figures for the most recent quarterly and yearly periods are preliminary only and subject to further revision as additional sales records become available (see Research Methodology online at reiq.com).

As of the June quarter 2013, all sales data includes "Recent Sales" as advised by real estate agents as well as official records as advised by DNRM. As such comparisons with figures published prior to the June quarter 2013 should be done with caution.

A median sale price is derived by arranging a set of sale prices from lowest to highest and then selecting the middle value within this set (i.e. the 50th percentile, where half of recorded sales were less and half were higher than the median).

Only suburbs and regions to record sufficient sales numbers (at least 20 sales for the quarter) at the time of reporting are published.

Median price changes are influenced by varying quality of properties sold.

N/A Due to insufficient sales numbers (as at the time of data extraction) no median sale price has been calculated.

N/D Not displayed due to price movements potentially driven by type of stock transacting.

(LGA) Local Government Area

(SD) Brisbane Statistical Division comprising the LGA of Brisbane City, Ipswich City, Logan City, Moreton Bay Regional and Redland City.

Sunshine Coast (SD)
Sunshine Coast Region comprising the LGA of Sunshine Coast Regional and Noosa.

Figures based upon the new council boundaries

^ Indicates acreage sales only (with land size greater than 2400m²). All other data is based upon sales with a land size of less than 2400m²

ON THE MARKET INDICATORS

At the time of publication, latest information available was for the 12 months ending the month prior to end of the quarter reporting period.

"Days on Market" is calculated as the median number of days it has taken to sell those properties sold by private treaty during the last 12 months. The calculation excludes auction listings and listings where an asking price is not advertised. The days on market calculation uses the contract date on the property compared with the first advertised date.

"Vendor Discount" is the median difference between the contract price on a property and the first advertised price. The figure is expressed as a percentage and is an average of all private treaty sales which sold for less than their initial asking price.

"Total Listings" is the total unique number of properties that have been advertised for sale and captured by CoreLogic RP Data over the 12 month period. To be included in the count, the listings have to be matched to an actual address.

"% Stock on Market" is the percentage of dwellings within the suburb or local government area that has been listed for sale over the past year.

The market trends data changed in November 2018 to improve the accuracy of the residential property universe. Recent changes have had an impact in the overall counts of properties and overall listing volumes. As such, an annual comparison of the stock on market may not necessarily provide an accurate representation of trends.

PRICE POINT GRAPHS

Some data contained within these graphs represents preliminary sales numbers and is subject to revision as additional sales records become available.

The data excludes any recent sales transactions where the contract sale price was not disclosed.

The intention of these graphs is to gauge trends in sales activity between periods in lieu of actual final sales results and compare it with historical data.

Arrows denote annual trend for the relevant indicator.

RENTAL MARKET DATA

All median weekly rents are published on a postcode basis, as calculated by the Residential Tenancies Authority, where sufficient data is available.

Caution should be exercised when interpreting any median rental price data based upon a relatively small number of new bond lodgements.

L Listed localities (or suburbs) represent one or potentially several that fall within that postcode.

N/A Due to insufficient new bond lodgements, no median rental price has been calculated

GROSS RENTAL YIELDS

House yields are based upon median house prices and RTA median weekly rent for three-bedroom houses.

Unit yields are based upon median unit and townhouse sale prices and RTA median weekly rent for two-bedroom units.

Rental Yield Trend:

Steady = +/- 0 to 0.3%pts

Up = + 0.3%pts or more

Down = - 0.3%pts or more

VACANCY RATES

All figures are based upon all residential rentals as at the end of each quarterly period, as submitted by real estate agents.

N/A Due to insufficient information received no vacancy rate has been calculated.

Marginal growth for Greater Brisbane, while potential rental reforms threaten to scare off investors

Over the past six months, the RBA cash rate was lowered to historical lows on two occasions; the first in July when the rate was cut by 25 basis points to 1 per cent.

The cash rate was again slashed in October to just 0.75 per cent, prompting speculation – and hope – that the cut might provide a much-needed boost to the housing market.

Public anticipation of a further rate cut was defused in December as the RBA decided to hold the current rate at 0.75 per cent.

RBA Governor Phillip Lowe said the Australian economy seemed to have reached a gentle turning point following a soft patch in the second half of last year.

“There are further signs of a turnaround in established housing markets,” said Mr Lowe.

“This is especially so in Sydney and Melbourne, but prices in some other markets have also increased recently.

“In contrast, new dwelling activity is still declining and growth in housing credit remains low.

“Demand for credit by investors is subdued and credit conditions, especially for small and medium-sized businesses, remain tight.

“Mortgage rates are at record lows and there is strong competition for borrowers of high credit quality.”

The real estate sector was thrown into chaos in November, when Minister for Housing and Public Works Mick de Brenni announced proposed rental reforms, which have the potential to deter future investors from entering the rental market and threaten to push current investors out.

The REIQ strongly opposes the proposed reforms which are a slap in the face to everyday ‘mum and dad’ property owners who provide the majority of housing to Queensland’s renters.

If enacted, the law change would erode fundamental landlord rights and deter property investment across the state. The reforms’ ripple effect would see renters struggling to find suitable housing under already tight conditions.

In a further blow to renters, by de Brenni’s own admission the reform would likely increase weekly rent by up to $18, with property analysts predicting a rise of up to $5000 per year.

Queensland has one of the highest proportions of renters in Australia with more than 34 per cent of Queensland households in the rental market.

The impact of the rate cuts and proposed rental reforms on the housing market is yet to be seen.

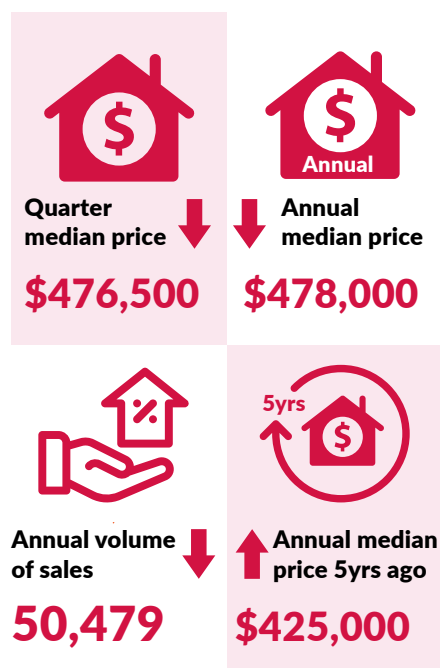

Key Findings for the Quarter

Sales markets for houses, units and land have continued to decline this quarter following a persistent downward trend in the annual number of sales over the past two years, with the land market reaching its lowest point in over ten years.

Year on year, the number of properties listed and stock on market for houses and units have both decreased marginally alongside an increase in number of days on market and a slight increase in median vendor discounts, signaling pressure across markets fueled by low demand.

Gladstone and Mackay were standout performers in the housing market this quarter, with Gladstone recording quarter on quarter growth of 11.8 per cent in median sales price, and Mackay 3.9 per cent.

For units, Noosa stood out ahead of other regions with 15.4 per cent growth quarterly in median sales price growth, followed by Sunshine Coast SD at 4.7 per cent.

HOUSE MARKET (<2400M²)

In terms of annual growth, Ipswich and Mackay reported positive growth across house, unit and land markets, with Ipswich remaining above 3 per cent for units.

HOUSE MARKET (<2400m²)

The Queensland housing market performance reduced by 0.7 per cent over the September quarter with the recorded quarterly median house price decreasing to $476,500.

Alongside a reduced annual volume of sales by 16.7 per cent, the annual median house price also fell by a marginal 0.4 per cent, from $480,000 in September 2018 to $478,000 in September 2019.

Over the past five years, the annual median house price for Queensland increased by 12.5 per cent, from $425,000 in September 2014 to $478,000 in September 2019.

Gladstone and Fraser Coast were the strongest performers in terms of annual price growth. The annual median house price in Gladstone grew by 3.7 per cent, reaching $280,000 while Fraser Coast achieved 1.6 per cent growth to $325,000.

The Ipswich region once again retained positive growth at 1.5 per cent to an annual median house price of $350,000.

Mackay also performed well with an increased median house price of 1.5 per cent, surpassing Brisbane LGA by 1.9 per cent as well as the Gold Coast market by 1.8 per cent. Despite recent annual growth for Mackay, the region still has some way to go before surpassing its annual price five years ago.

Greater Brisbane presented marginally improved performance for the house market over the year while the unit market continued to underperform resulting in negative 1.2 per cent growth for the year.

The annual median house price for Brisbane LGA fell slightly by 0.4 per cent for the year to $675,000 while Logan, Moreton Bay and Redland followed a similar trend.

GENERAL ACTIVITY

Across Queensland, the housing market continues to outperform the unit market with a 1.5 per cent difference in annual growth resulting in an annual median house price of $478,000 for houses and $400,000 for units.

The regions where houses outperformed units by the greatest margin were Logan and Toowoomba at a 5.5 per cent and 4.5 per cent difference respectively. Where units managed to outperform houses the most were Noosa and Mackay at 3.4 per cent and 2.9 per cent respectively.

Annual listings for Queensland's housing market decreased by 1.6 per cent over the year from 105,015 listings in September 2018 to 103,371 listings in September 2019.

Regions that experienced the largest increases in house listings for the year were Ipswich, Gold Coast and Mackay. The number of Mackay house listings grew 23.2 per cent from 2,422 in September 2018 to 2,985 in September 2019.

While the total number of house listings were up for Queensland, presenting more options for potential buyers, days on market increased from 45 to 56 days and the median vendor discount grew by 0.6 per cent.

Gladstone reported the largest fall in median vendor discount of about 1.9 per cent from 8.9 per cent in September 2018 to 6.9 per cent in September 2019. In addition, Gladstone houses spent 29 days less on market compared to the previous year, the largest decrease among Queensland regions, further indicating an increase in housing demand for the region.

The quickest selling region was Brisbane LGA at 37 days on market for houses to reach contract of sale, while Rockhampton was the slowest selling region at 69 days.

HOUSE MARKET ALL

UNIT MARKET

UNIT MARKET ALL

Sunshine Coast LGA offered the smallest median vendor discount of 4.3 per cent, closely followed by Moreton Bay at 4.4 per cent, while Rockhampton offered the largest vendor discount of 9 per cent.

UNIT MARKET

Performance in the Queensland unit market has continued with subdued performance, experiencing negative 1.9 per cent annual growth resulting in an annual median unit price of $400,000.

On a positive note, unit growth over the past five years was 4.7 per cent where median unit prices grew from $382,000 in September 2014 to $400,000 in September 2019.

Quarterly results show that the unit market fell marginally by 0.5 per cent in Queensland, resulting in a quarterly median price of $394,950.

Many regions across Queensland which were assessed in this issue of the QMM had underperformed over the September 2019 quarter, the exceptions being Moreton Bay, Redland, Sunshine Coast SD, Sunshine Coast LGA and Noosa, all of which reported positive growth within the range of 2 per cent to 15.4 per cent over the quarter.

Top performers in terms of quarter on quarter growth included Noosa at 15.4 per cent, and Sunshine Coast SD at 4.7 per cent. The quarterly median unit price for Noosa increased from $563,500 in the June quarter to $650,000 in the September quarter in 2019.

The unit market's weakest performers for the quarter included Mackay and Logan, recording quarter on quarter growth of negative 27.6 per cent and negative 10.2 per cent respectively.

RENTAL MARKET

The Queensland rental market tightened at a quicker pace between June and September quarter this year compared to last year, indicating that demand for rental accommodation continues to remain high.

Brisbane LGA's vacancy rate tightened to 1.6 per cent, the lowest rate for the region in over a decade, and entering the tight range (less than 2.5 per cent) for the first time since September quarter 2018. This being an indicator of a highly competitive market where oversupply of new rental stock is quickly taken up.

The Greater Brisbane market also recorded its lowest vacancy rate in over a decade at 1.7 per cent, placing it well within the tight range, while Ipswich and Redcliffe were the only areas to fall within the healthy range at 2.9 per cent and 2.8 per cent respectively.

In the coastal markets, Gold Coast remained in the healthy range with a vacancy rate of 3 per cent, while Sunshine Coast SD and Sunshine Coast LGA both moved in to the healthy range with new figures at 2.6 per cent and 3.3 per cent respectively. All other coastal markets remained in the tight range except for Noosa which experienced a sharp increase to 4.4 per cent, placing the region within the weak range for the first time since March quarter 2017.

Gympie became the tightest rental market for the September 2019 quarter, reporting a vacancy rate of 0.3 per cent, while the highest vacancy rate for the quarter was recorded at 6.8 per cent for the Cassowary Coast.

The annual median sale price for houses in the capital city of Greater Brisbane increased by 1.8 per cent to $560,000 in the September 2019 quarter.

Greater Brisbane's housing market holds strong while Greater Hobart is once again the strongest performance overall.

The annual median sale price for houses in the capital city of Greater Brisbane increased by 1.8 per cent to $560,000 in the September 2019 quarter.

Greater Brisbane ranked second in terms of quarter on quarter median house price growth and fifth for units among capital cities, with the median house price remaining at $555,000 and the median unit price growing by 1.3 per cent to $390,000. It was also one of two capital cities in the housing market alongside Greater Melbourne not to experience negative quarter on quarter growth.

Greater Darwin has once again recorded the largest vendor discounts for both houses and units for the second quarter in a row, offering a median discount of 7.1 per cent for houses and 8.7 per cent for units. Closely following in the housing market were Greater Sydney and Greater Melbourne with median discounts of 6.8 and 6.7 per cent respectively. For units, Greater Perth and Greater Sydney took second and third place offering median discounts of 7.9 and 6.4 per cent respectively.

Median vendor discounts for Greater Brisbane houses and units both sat below the market average taking sixth place among capital cities offering a 4.8 per cent discount for houses and a 5.1 per cent discount for units. Greater Brisbane houses spent around 41 days on market, four days less than the market average, ranking as the fourth quickest selling city.

House Market

The housing market across capital cities continued its downward trend in terms of annual number of sales numbers, however experienced a more subdued decrease compared to previous quarters at 0.5 per cent from 136,103 in the June quarter to 135,409 in the September quarter 2019. Similarly, the volume of annual listings decreased by 2.9 per cent from 193,528 in the June quarter to 187,930 in the September quarter 2019.

The September quarter also saw an even split of capital cities operating in both positive and negative territories in terms of annual growth, while the September quarter of 2018 only had one capital city with negative growth.

(based on sales volume) falling by 7.2 per cent in annual median price.

Median house prices for Canberra and Greater Adelaide grew by 1.9 per cent and 2.1 per cent respectively for the past year. Both of these cities combined represented less than 50 per cent of the total annual number of sales for Greater Sydney and Greater Melbourne.

Greater Brisbane continued to post positive results following on from last quarter, retaining fourth position with an annual price growth of 1.8 per cent to $560,000, and ranking as the fifth most affordable city.

On The Market Trends

Greater Hobart remained the fastest selling capital city in the market, offering the second smallest vendor discount among capital cities. The median vendor discount was 4.2 per cent, with typical houses in Greater Hobart remaining on the market for 16 days.

The second fastest selling capital city was Canberra where houses required 39 days to reach contract of sale and sold with a median vendor discount of 2.6 per cent. In comparison, Greater Sydney houses sat on the market for 12 days longer and offered a vendor discount 4.2 per cent higher than the capital city. Greater Brisbane was the third fastest selling capital city with properties remaining on the market for 41 days, offering a 4.8 per cent vendor discount.

The weakest performer for the quarter was Greater Darwin where houses took 70 days to reach contract of sale with a vendor discount of 7.1 per cent, the largest discount among capital cities. Other weaker performers include Greater Perth and Greater Sydney in terms of median number of days on market.

Hold Periods

Homeowners throughout Australian capital cities generally hold ownership between 9.2 and 14 years.

Greater Melbourne was the city with the longest ownership for houses, with the average hold period at 14 years, only marginally longer than the June quarter figure of 13.7 years.

Homeowners in Greater Brisbane retained shorter ownership over Greater Melbourne by 1.6 years, increasing from 12.1 to 12.4 years. Greater Adelaide remained below 11 years of ownership while Greater Sydney held at 12.7 years from the June quarter.

Ownership in Greater Darwin extended from nine years in the June quarter to 9.2 years in the September quarter.

Unit Market

The annual number of sales across the unit market for capital cities trended upward by 3.8 per cent from 48,699 sales in the June quarter to 50,534 for the September quarter in 2019.

The number of annual unit listings increased ahead of annual sales, recording an increase of approximately 4.2 per cent from 76,549 listings in June 2019 to 79,734 listings in September 2019.

Performance across capital cities in the unit market varied ranging from negative 9.7 per cent to 8.8 per cent for the year. With a similar result to the housing market, the best performing capital city in the unit market was Greater Hobart which posted an annual growth of 8.8 per cent, resulting in an annual median price of $370,000 and 882 annual sales.

The capital cities of Greater Adelaide and Greater Melbourne both indicated positive annual growth with 2.3 percent and 1.4 per cent respectively. Despite remaining in negative territory, Greater Brisbane posted improved results from the previous quarter with a 1.8 per cent improvement resulting in negative 1.3 per cent growth for the September quarter.

Units across Greater Sydney remained the most expensive reporting an annual median price of $690,000, down 4.2 percent for the year. The weakest performing capital city was Greater

On The Market Trends

Units across Australian capital cities took between 15 and 73 days to reach contract of sale, which were encouraged by vendor discounts ranging between 3 per cent and 8.7 per cent.

Greater Hobart was once again the fastest selling capital, in addition to being the top performing city in terms of growth and offering the second smallest vendor discount behind Canberra. The average vendor discount for Greater Hobart was 4 per cent, with units taking 15 days to reach contract of sale.

In contrast, Greater Perth was the weakest performing unit market with units taking 73 days to reach a contract of sale despite offering the second largest vendor discount of 7.9 per cent, which reflects strong negotiating power for buyers in the unit market.

The performance of Greater Brisbane's unit market has not improved from the previous quarter, taking units 54 days to reach contract of sale, compared to 41 days for houses. The median vendor discount for the Greater Brisbane unit market was 5.1 per cent, 0.3 per cent greater than the discount for housing which indicates that an oversupply of units is still lingering.

Hold Periods

The average hold period across Australian capital cities has reduced marginally from the previous quarter, arriving at a range from 9.8 years to 11.2 years.

Greater Perth units owners held on to their properties the longest for about 11.2 years, decreasing by 0.1 days from the previous quarter whereas unit owners for Greater Hobart held on to their properties for the shortest time at around 9.8 years.

One market that continues to do well is rentals. The Greater Brisbane vacancy rate tightened fairly dramatically during the September quarter, with outer area LGAs experiencing some of the strongest demand according to our analysis.

Steady as she goes

The Greater Brisbane region includes the local government areas of Brisbane, Ipswich, Moreton Bay, Logan and Redland, so it would be reasonable to expect some diversity in the market metrics.

Greater Brisbane experienced a 0.8 per cent rise in its 12-month median price to September 2019. The figure reached $530,000 across 25,370 transactions, showing positive signs for long-term price recovery.

Drilling down into the individual LGAs and you'll find there were a mix of price movements across the quarter and the year, although shifts – both positive and negative – weren't dramatic.

The unit sector in all LGAs appears to be well past its peak according to our analytics. On balance, the price cycle would suggest values are likely to soften further for Greater Brisbane. The notable split, according to industry operators, is between investor stock and owner occupier accommodation. It's expected investment units will bear the brunt of further price falls.

One market that continues to do well is rentals. The Greater Brisbane vacancy rate tightened fairly dramatically during the September quarter, with outer area LGAs experiencing some of the strongest demands according to our analysis.

Regional Economy and Infrastructure Investment

Logan

Small business received a boost in Logan recently.

Two Logan metalwork companies will upgrade equipment and create more local jobs after securing over $1.5 million in combined funding from the Queensland Government as part of the Made in Queensland (MiQ) initiative.

Transport infrastructure spending continues to focus on M1 upgrades with motorists given a sneak peek of the $749 million M1 upgrade from Eight Mile Plains to Daisy Hill. The eight-kilometre project includes more lanes on the M1, a new busway to Springwood, and a bikeway to Paradise Road.

Ipswich

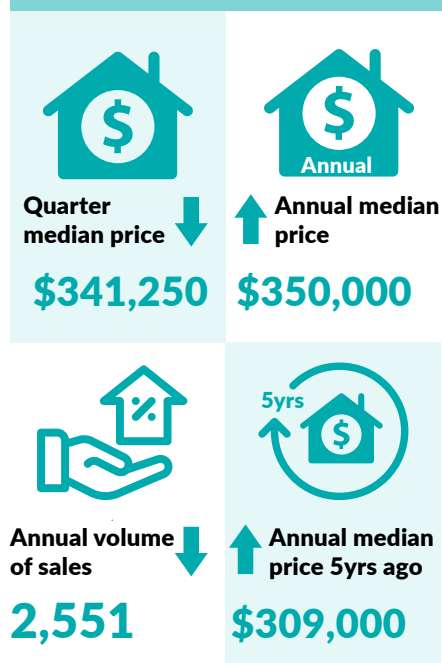

Ipswich will boost its innovation status with a $5 million Defence Innovation Hub to be located alongside Ipswich entrepreneurs at Fire Station 101 on Limestone Street. The hub is set to open early next year. The State Government said $5 million has been allocated to help local industry tap into the rapid growth of the defence industries sector.

The latest round of the Waste to Biofutures fund has seen Wildfire Energy receive $500,000 to establish its waste-to-energy demonstration project in Redbank Plains. The project will convert feedstocks into synthesis gas, enabling the production of renewable electricity, hydrogen and chemicals.

Moreton Bay

The MiQ grants have also reached Moreton Shire with two Brendale manufacturers leveraging new technology to create more jobs.

Harness and cable manufacturer Harnex has received $150,761, while Polytuff Automotive was awarded $50,125.

Member for Pine Rivers Nikki Boyd said the grants will help the businesses increase their manufacturing agility and enhance production.

"What this means is more jobs for our community, more than 30 in total, while the confidence this growth gives to local industry will help attract more businesses north of the city," she said.

In addition, the latest round of surveillance tests showed no signs of white spot disease in South East Queensland waters, more than two and a half years after the virus devastated the big prawn farms on the Logan River.

Prawn and marine worm samples were taken from a number of locations within Moreton Bay, Logan and Brisbane Rivers and all returned negative results, which was great news for the industry.

Redland

Town planning is front and centre in the jurisdiction with State Government winding up the Southern Moreton Bay Islands Act, so as to bring these location in line with Redland's overall town planning guidelines.

The Queensland Minister for State Development, Manufacturing, Infrastructure and Planning, Cameron Dick, said the changes would see planning on Russell, Macleay, Karragarra and Lamb Islands fall within the Redland City Plan.

On the health infrastructure front, Redland is set to benefit from a $1.4 million State Government grant for the upgrade of the Redland Hospital to provide additional Emergency Department beds and birthing facilities.

Market Outlook

Analysis of housing data shows that the overall housing market in the Greater Brisbane region continues to perform steadily.

Price gains continue to be a long-term prospect on the whole, however continued investment in infrastructure and business that promotes employment throughout the region brings flow-on benefits to the real estate market.

HOUSE MARKET (<2400m²)

As mentioned, the Greater Brisbane region experienced a 0.8 per cent rise in annual median price to September 2019.

By contrast, the Brisbane City LGA saw its annual median house price soften 0.4 per cent to September 2019 reaching $675,000. This placed its annual result well below Ipswich which experienced a 1.5 per cent increase in median house price.

In fact, Ipswich was the only LGA to see house price growth during the period. Logan's house price fell 1.3 per cent while Moreton's dropped 0.2 per cent and Redland's softened 1.9 per cent.

For those LGAs outside of Brisbane, it was Redland that had the most expensive housing with a median house price at $525,000, while Ipswich had the most affordable with an annual median of $350,000.

For just the September quarter 2019, Greater Brisbane experienced 0.6 per cent fall in the median house price, reaching $529,500 across 5,131 transactions.

The Brisbane LGA median house price for the quarter fell by 0.7 per cent to $670,000 across 2,504 transactions.

Of the outer local authorities, Logan was the only one to see a rise in its quarterly median price, increasing by 0.8 per cent to reach $388,250.

Looking at five-year data, the annual median house price across Greater Brisbane grew an impressive 14 per cent since September 2014. The annual median house price in outer Brisbane localities grew within the range of 11.9 per cent to 18.4 per cent over the same period.

General Activity

For Greater Brisbane, the annual total listing volume fell 5.9 per cent for the year, from 39,767 to September 2018 to 37,435 to September 2019.

Stock on market was slightly lower for the year, coming in at 6.8 per cent, down 0.5 per cent on the previous year.

The period also saw a notable increase in median days on market, with a 2019 selling time of 41 days, which was ten days longer than the 2018 result. Vendor discounting over the 12 months also rose from 4.2 per cent discount in 2018 to a 4.8 per cent discount in 2019.

Outside of the Brisbane LGA, it was Moreton Bay that saw the lowest days on market at 45, although that was an increase of ten days on last year's result, and one of the highest increases across all Greater Brisbane LGAs.

Moreton also had the tightest vendor discount at 4.4 per cent, which was 0.7 per cent more than the same time last year. Ipswich, Logan and Redland all had similar shifts in vendor discount.

Stock on market increased across all the outer LGAs. The 2019 figures ranged from 7.6 per cent in Logan to 8.5 per cent in Redland. Brisbane City had a stock on market figure of 6.3 per cent for the period.

Our overall view of the outer Brisbane Region LGAs is that, while markets had loosened slightly, they're tracking well. There have been few dramatic shifts in the metrics since last year apart from a rise in days on market.

UNIT MARKET

The Brisbane LGA unit market saw its annual median slip slightly, down -2.2 per cent to $440,000 to the end of September 2019.

By contrast, Ipswich experienced a 3.5 per cent gain in its annual unit median, reaching $333,000 across 369 transactions.

Ipswich was, in fact, the only LGA in Greater Brisbane to see gains, with the biggest declines being in Logan (-6.8 per cent) and Redland (-4.8 per cent).

On a short-term basis, Logan saw a substantial 10.2 per cent fall in the median price during the September Quarter 2019. This was the softest result of all markets in the Greater Brisbane LGA with Redland's 2.3 per cent rise being the most substantial.

Total listing numbers and stock on market both tightened across Greater Brisbane over the year. Listings were down 12.9 per cent while stock shortened 0.9 per cent. This could, in part, reflect ongoing stock absorption in Brisbane itself as the market corrects from oversupply, however Brisbane did not see the greatest tightening.

Redland saw the most dramatic fall in total unit listings – down 22.3 per cent for the year to 621 to September 2019. This was followed reasonably closely by Ipswich which recorded a 17.3 per cent fall in listings. Stock on market also tightened most in Ipswich, with the city recording a fall of 4.5 percentage points.

For the days on market comparison, Brisbane saw its number fall by ten, while all outer LGAs experienced a rise, ranging from three in Logan to a substantial increase of 18 in Ipswich.

Vendor discounting remained relatively tight across all jurisdictions with the exception of Ipswich, which saw the number rise from 4.9 per cent to September 2018 to 9.1 per cent for the same timeframe this year.

Overall, it appears most unit markets are steady to slightly soft across Greater Brisbane.

RENTAL MARKET

September quarter median rental yields across outer Brisbane regions ranged from 4.0 per cent to 4.8 per cent for houses, and 4.1 per cent to 6.2 per cent for units.

Yield movements from the previous quarter were mostly steady across all LGAs, with units in Redlands experiencing the biggest decrease down from 5.3 per cent last quarter to 4.7 per cent this most recent quarter.

Median annual rent for outer Brisbane three-bedroom houses ranged from $315 per week in Ipswich to $400 per week in Redland. The same measure for two-bedroom units ranged $260 per week in Ipswich to $355 per week in Redland.

The Greater Brisbane vacancy rate was at 1.7 per cent in the September quarter – a notable fall from the 2.4 per cent recorded over the previous quarter. This is the tightest recorded quarterly result in just over ten years.

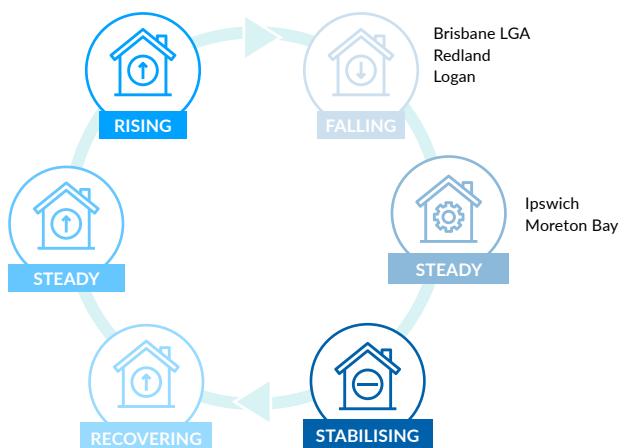

Outer Brisbane regions saw some of the tightest vacancy rates during the three-month period.

The most interesting result was Logan, which at 1.5 per cent vacancy is a drop of 0.9 percentage points from last quarter. This is the first sub-2.0 per cent result for Logan since June Quarter 2018.

Brisbane's fundamentals around infrastructure investment, interstate migration and jobs potential remain attractive and should help drive growth.

Primed for gains

While the numbers aren't showing extraordinary upside for Brisbane to September 2019, industry operators believe real estate prices are set for steady gains over the long-term.

Brisbane's fundamentals around infrastructure investment, interstate migration and jobs potential remain attractive and should help drive growth in the real estate sector over an extended period.

In terms of detached housing, the annual median price for the Brisbane LGA reached $675,000 in September 2019, falling 0.4 per cent for the year across 12,123 transactions.

Attached housing continues to struggle with the annual median unit price having fallen 2.2 cent to September 2019, with a figure of $440,000 across 8,571 transactions.

That said, much of the pain is being felt in the investor-unit sector. By contrast, good quality, owner-occupier attached housing has seen reasonable demand, according to industry stakeholders.

Local Economy and Infrastructure Investment

Among the major infrastructure works set to benefit South East Queensland, few are as significant as Inland Rail.

It was announced in November the State and Federal Governments have signed a bilateral agreement to deliver the anticipated rail network.

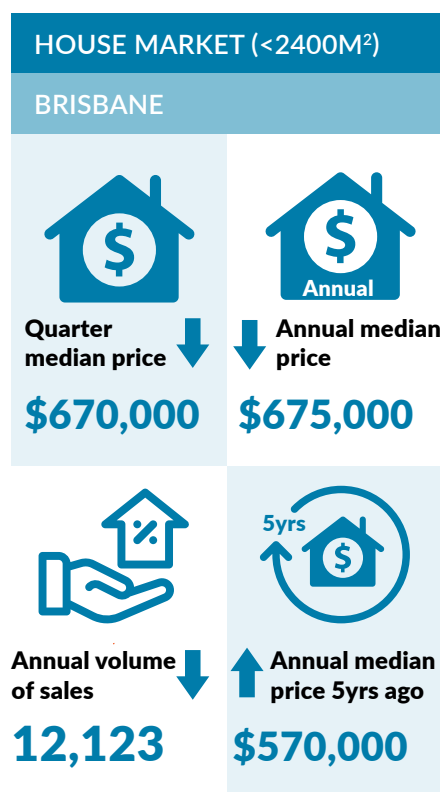

According to the Federal Government, more than 7,000 jobs will be created with the economic boost to the state's economy being $7 billion.

Queensland Transport and Main Roads Minister Mark Bailey said the agreement would see close to $2 billion in joint-funding fast-tracked for road and rail projects across the state.

Other economic boosts have flowed from the State Government's $46 million Made in Queensland (MiQ) grants program.

Recent MiQ announcements included $2.3 million for four manufacturers in northside Brisbane. These four grants are helping create an estimated 80 new high-skilled jobs locally.

In addition, three manufacturers in Brisbane's south-west secured $2.6 million under the MiQ program. The increased capacity created by this investment will see around 20 new jobs created, and will ensure hundreds more jobs are retained, according to the government.

And a $280 million meat processing and distribution facility in Heathwood is creating jobs too, according to the State Government.

The Hilton Foods Australia's processing facility has established over 650 new jobs, with more on the cards when it ramps up to full production next year, said the government.

Market Outlook

A positive outlook for the house market continues among long-term observers.

Continued low interest rates, high infrastructure spending and a return in the interstate migration numbers toward levels once seen in 2003 have combined to fuel an atmosphere of positivity among property owners. Substantial price growth is still, however, expected to be gradual and long-term.

HOUSE MARKET (<2400m²)

The median house price fell 0.7 per cent in September quarter 2019 to record a result of $670,000 across 2,504 transactions.

Brisbane remained the second most expensive local authority by annual median price, behind Noosa which recorded a median of $720,000.

Brisbane's median house price five years ago was $570,000 reflecting steady upward movement over the past half-decade of 18.4 per cent.

General activity

The most popular price range for houses in the Brisbane LGA was within the $500,000 to $1 million bracket during September quarter 2019. Sales in this range represented about 68 per cent of total transactions.

Listing numbers over the year to September 2019 were 19,805 which was a 5.3 per cent rise from the 2018 figure.

Stock on market also rose, coming in at 6.3 per cent to September 2019 as compared to 6.1 per cent in 2018.

Median days on market increased by four to reach 37 to September 2019, while the median vendor discount rose 0.5 per cent to reach -4.5 per cent in 2019.

UNIT AND TOWNHOUSE MARKET

Property professionals continue to find challenges with investor-level units, although many measures show the post-oversupply downturn has slowed, with owner-occupier designed stock helping lead the path to recovery.

Unit prices fell 1.1 per cent over the September period, to a quarterly median of $435,000 across 1,591 transactions.

Over the past year, the annual median unit price fell 2.2 per cent to $440,000.

Despite this, Brisbane remained the state's second most expensive market for units behind Noosa ($573,750).

The most active price point for sales was between $350,000 and $500,000 where approximately 41 per cent of all units traded during the quarter.

The medium-term analysis also revealed the subdued nature of Brisbane's unit market. The annual median price has risen an extremely modest 0.4 per cent over the past five years. The median was $438,170 in 2014.

Total annual listing numbers to September 2019 reached 10,695 which is a fall of 1.9 per cent compared to last year. Stock on market also tightened from 7.0 per cent in 2018 to 6.1 per cent in 2019.

Median days on market shortened as well. For the year to September 2019, the result was 51 whereas at the same time last year it was 61 days.

All these metrics bode well for absorbing the lag of oversupply, although we note a very slight increase in the median vendor discount from -4.7 per cent last year to -4.9 per cent in 2019.

RENTAL MARKET

Brisbane LGA's vacancy rate tightened to 1.6 per cent for September Quarter 2019. This is a record low for the region, and was a dramatic move from the previous quarter's 2.8 per cent vacancy rate.

The Brisbane LGA median rent for a three-bedroom house held steady at $430 per week for the year to September 2019. The three-bedroom townhouse median was $420 per week for the year to September 2019 which was identical to the result to September 2018. Two-bedroom units saw a $10-per-week increase in the median during the year to come in at $430 per week.

The detached housing gross rental yield of 3.3 per cent was down just 0.1 per cent on the previous quarter's result.

Units in Brisbane LGA held at a gross yield of 5.1 per cent in September 2019 when compared to the previous quarter.

Split performance

Our analysis of the Gold Coast residential market reveals performance is divided. Houses are holding steady within the rising sector of the cycle, while units are generally past their peak and within the falling half of the property clock.

The quarterly house median price gain was the strongest three-monthly rise in the past year, while the unit median price retracted after a positive result in the previous quarter.

Annual median house and unit prices both softened modestly – under 1.0 per cent. The vendor discount also rose for houses, while days on market increased.

For units, supply has tightened somewhat although vendor discounting rose.

The rental market was also slightly softer this quarter, with the rising vacancy rate hitting 3.0 per cent.

Regional Economy and Investment

The Gold Coast's economic pillar of tourism is set to get a boost via a renowned piece of real estate.

The next stage of the State Government's plan to revitalise The Spit was delivered in November through the introduction of the Implementation of The Spit Master Plan Bill 2019 to parliament.

Minister for State Development Cameron Dick said master plan projects will create around 1,800 jobs during the lifetime of the venture.

Soon after its introduction, the State Government announced the first commercial development site to be released under the master plan.

The government said a 9,858-square-metre site with a marina allotment adjacent to Sunland's Mariner's Cove would be the first of several state-owned sites to be released under the proposal.

Minister Dick said the site will be the first undeveloped commercial property to be released on The Spit since the late 1990s.

"The delivery of The Spit master plan means we now have a cohesive vision for the area that will unlock private and public investment, while ensuring the protection and enhancement of public open space," he said.

Mr Dick said the site would be offered as a long-term lease with a marina allotment.

In other economic news, part of announced federal infrastructure spend of $1.9 billion will include construction of Gold Coast Light Rail Stage 3, plus $46.3 million for two M1 exit upgrades.

HOUSE MARKET (<2400m²)

Prices rose strongly over the most recent quarter. It was a 3.2 per cent gain in values to $640,000 across 1,246 transactions – the strongest quarterly result recorded in the past 12 months.

For the year to September 2019, the annual median house price fell 0.3 per cent to $625,000 across a total of 5,359 transactions.

The Gold Coast was the state's third most expensive LGA for houses based on the annual median price behind Noosa ($720,000) and Brisbane ($675,000).

On annual transaction numbers, the Gold Coast was the third most traded LGA with 5,359 transactions behind Brisbane (12,123) and Moreton Bay (5,451).

Medium term investment saw strong results, with the median house price having increased by 25 per cent since its $500,000 figure just five years ago.

One suburbs saw double-digit value gains during the year to September 2019 which was Jacobs Well at 12.2 per cent annual growth.

Six suburbs were in the annual million-dollar-median club as at the September 2019 quarter: Runaway Bay ($1 million), Surfers Paradise ($1.465 million), Mermaid Beach ($1.45 million), Broadbeach Waters ($1.1 million), Clear Island Waters ($1.074 million) and Paradise Point ($1,137,500).

General Activity

Market trends data indicates house conditions have continued to ease over the past 12 months.

Total annual house listing numbers rose to 12,414 for year ending September 2019 – a substantial 20 per cent rise on the previous year's result.

Median days on market increased by eight coming in at 50 for the 2019 measure as opposed to 42 in 2018.

The median vendor discount came in at -5.2 per cent to September 2019. This was a notable increase on the -4.6 per cent to September 2018.

Stock on market also increased to 9.3 per cent to September 2019 as opposed to the September 2018 result of 7.6 per cent.

UNIT MARKET

Unit and townhouse prices retracted over the quarter by a notable 2.3 per cent to record a median of $425,000 across 1,578 transactions.

However, for the year to September 2019, the annual median softened by just 0.9 per cent to a figure of $435,000. This was across a total of 8,303 sales.

The Gold Coast was the state's third most expensive LGA for units based on the annual median price to September 2019 behind Noosa ($573,750) and Brisbane ($440,000).

Based on annual unit sales volume, the Gold Coast was the second most traded LGA after Brisbane (8,571).

Medium-term price performance has been positive with units recording a price rise of 19.2 per cent on the $365,000 figure from five years ago.

Suburbs which saw a double-digit percentage rise in their annual median unit price over the year were Arundel (16.4 per cent), Bilinga (11.2 per cent) and Highland Park (11.6 per cent).

General Activity

Market trends data for attached housing is sending mixed messages. While activity seems to have eased and supply tightened, an increased vendor discount and longer listing times indicate vendors must still be willing to temper expectations and meet the market.

Total annual unit listing numbers tightened substantially over the year. Listing numbers for the 12 months to September 2019 were 9,089 – a reduction of 27 per cent decrease on the September 2018 listings number of 12,477.

Stock on market also decreased significantly, recording 7.7 per cent for 2019 as compared to 10.5 per cent to September 2019.

Contrary to these results, median days on market increased to 61 for the 2019 measure from 53 in 2018.

RENTAL MARKET

The median annual rental price to September quarter 2019 for three-bedroom houses was $500 per week and for two-bedroom units was $440 per week. Compared to the same measure in 2018, these outcomes reflect no change for houses, but a $10 per week fall for units.

The median vendor discount also increased. It came in at -5.2 per cent to September 2019, but was -4.7 per cent to September 2018.

RENTAL MARKET

The September Quarter 2019 vacancy rate of 3.0 per cent reflected a continued easing in the measure since a low of 1.1 in March 2018.

The median annual rental price to September quarter 2019 for three-bedroom houses was $500 per week and for two-bedroom units was $440 per week. Compared to the same measure in 2018, these outcomes reflect no change for houses, but a $10 per week fall for units.

September quarter yields were 4.1 per cent for houses and 5.4 per cent for units. This reflected a 0.1 per cent softening from the previous quarter for houses and a slight 0.1 per cent increase for units.

Sales steady while rents strengthen

The Toowoomba market is experiencing steady sales market conditions but an extremely tight rental sector.

The residential vacancy rate has continued its downward trajectory to hit just 1.1 per cent, which has resulted in rents increasing over the past year.

Toowoomba now has the lowest vacancy rate of all major locations in regional Queensland.

The region's sales market, however, has posted mostly stable results with its median house price up marginally over the quarter.

Its unit sector continues to record volatile results given its small size compared to the house market.

Kearneys Spring, however, has recorded growth for houses by 6.6 per cent for the quarter, while recording 5.3 per cent growth for units over the year which is possibly a sign of a strengthening local market given its location near the region's major university campus.

Regional Economy and Infrastructure Investment

The most significant freight infrastructure project in the nation's history has taken a major step forward with the Australian and Queensland Governments signing a ground-breaking bilateral agreement to deliver Inland Rail.

The inland rail-line linking Melbourne and Brisbane via Wagga Wagga, Parkes, Moree and Toowoomba will dramatically reduce rail freight costs and transit times along the eastern states and increase reliability.

According to Toowoomba Regional Council, Inland Rail will also make it cheaper and more efficient for businesses to send goods to new markets around the country and for export while using a mode of transport that is safer and more environmentally responsible.

The project will involve the creation of a business case for passenger services from Brisbane to Toowoomba.

Queensland Transport and Main Roads Minister Mark Bailey said that the agreement cements protections for Queenslanders and would see close to $2 billion in joint-funding fast-tracked for road and rail projects across the state.

"The delivery of Inland Rail in Queensland is a huge win for the state, providing jobs and opportunities to communities," Mr Bailey said.

"This deal will see us work with the Federal Government on business cases for passenger rail services from Salisbury to Beaudesert, Brisbane to Toowoomba and a dedicated rail freight line to the Port of Brisbane."

A major milestone has also been reached in a project to create habitat to attract fish and improve recreational fishing in Toowoomba's Cressbrook Dam.

Toowoomba Regional Council Mayor Paul Antonio said the project is a win for the region and provides a real opportunity to improve the fish habitat of Lake Cressbrook.

"This Australian-first project could benefit local anglers and provide extra incentive for visitors to travel to our region, stay in our towns and enjoy some recreational fishing," he said.

"We can't wait to see more people visiting our region and enjoying the recreation of our dams and open spaces."

“The study has hit the halfway point and the next step will be to promote our dams and encourage anglers come to our region and hopefully go home with fewer stories about the one that got away.”

House market

The Toowoomba market is known as one of the most stable in the state and this quarter it wears that mantle once again.

Over the September quarter, its median house price was up marginally by 0.4 per cent to $343,500.

Over the year, its median house price was mostly flat, recording a modest decline of 0.6 per cent.

These market conditions are in line with the on the market indicators for the past year, which show days on market, vendor discounting, and stock on market levels mostly stable.

However, the number of listings over the past year has fallen by about 18 per cent, but this could be attributed to the weak start to the year that most of the state experienced.

Solid performers over the September quarter included Harristown, with median house price growth of 3.5 per cent to $309,500, and Kearneys Spring, near the University of Southern Queensland campus, whose median price increased by 6.6 per cent to $389,000.

Unit market

While its housing market has held firm during the year, the same can't unfortunately be said for Toowoomba's unit sector.

Representing only a small proportion of the overall market, it is likely to bear the brunt of any market softness.

Over the September quarter, the Toowoomba unit price dropped by 9.7 per cent to $257,500.

However, this was based on 82 settled sales over the quarter, which one can safely assume were in lower price brackets, thus dragging the median price down.

When it comes to median unit price performance across the state over the past quarter, it must be said that everywhere had a less than stellar period – apart from the Sunshine Coast region.

Over the year ending September, the median unit price fall in Toowoomba was slightly more modest, at 5.1 per cent.

The standout performer over the year ending September was again Kearneys Spring, whose median unit price increased 5.3 per cent to $316,000.

Rental market

While the Toowoomba sales market might not be anything to shout about from the roof tops, its rental sector definitely deserves a tune or two.

The residential vacancy rate has continued its downward trajectory to hit just 1.1 per cent in September.

This figure is actually its lowest level since March 2013 and is the lowest for all major regional areas.

It is clear that supply is drying up, which is correspondingly seeing rents start to rise.

Year on year, weekly median rents for all dwelling types have risen.

The median rent for a three-bedroom house in Toowoomba is now $320, $340 for three-bedroom townhouses, and $260 for two-bedroom units.

While investors of Toowoomba real estate may not be achieving the same yields as other regional areas, the stable marketplace more than makes up for that.

The gross rental yield for houses is currently 4.8 per cent and for units it is 5.3 per cent.

The Noosa region recorded a median house price fall of 15.4 per cent over the quarter to $638,500.

Market makes a positive upturn

The Sunshine Coast's housing market appears to have responded positively to better finance conditions in the second half of this year.

With record low interest rates as well as a relaxation of the lending environment, the region's median house price increased by 1.8 per cent to $580,000 over the September quarter.

However, the Noosa region recorded a median house price fall of 15.4 per cent over the quarter to $638,500.

That said, Noosa was the standout performer for the past year or two and recorded overall median house price growth of 35.2 per cent over the past five years.

The region's unit market produced superior price growth over the period, with Noosa posting a median price increase of 15.4 per cent to $650,000.

The Sunshine Coast's median unit price grew by 3.1 per cent to $420,000 over the same period.

Seasonal factors were in play over the quarter in the region's rental market, with residential vacancy rates in both locations recording increases.

Regional Economy and Infrastructure Investment

Around 860 jobs are a step closer as the landing station for the $35 million Sunshine Coast International Broadband Network is nearing completion.

The project facilitated the direct landing of a new undersea internet data cable at Maroochydore on the Sunshine Coast and will generate almost $1 billion for the state economy, according to the Sunshine Coast Council.

"This $7.2 million cable landing station is the gateway to better internet connectivity for Queensland businesses," the Queensland Premier said.

"Better connectivity means faster processing times for bigger data and more jobs.

"The cable will be able to provide Australia's fastest data and telecommunications transmission speeds to Asia and the second fastest to the USA.

"It pitches Queensland firms to the forefront of the digital economy and will be a major drawcard for businesses and investment."

An independent assessment commissioned by Sunshine Coast Council found the project could lead to an estimated 864 new jobs in the Sunshine Coast region and could generate $927 million for Queensland's economy.

The cable landing station is adjacent to the Maroochydore City Centre Priority Development Area.

The submarine cable network is expected to be in service by mid-2020.

A new deal with Air New Zealand will increase flights to the Sunshine Coast, bringing around 9,000 extra tourists over three years and injecting more than $11 million into the local economy, it was recently announced.

The additional flights are set to commence in April 2020, supported through the Attracting Aviation Investment Fund in partnership with Visit Sunshine Coast and Sunshine Coast Airport.

On the Sunshine Coast, Air New Zealand will extend seasonal services by two months from mid-April to June to a total of six months flying across April to October.

New Zealand is the Sunshine Coast's largest international market in terms of visitor numbers, with 70,000 travellers visiting in the year ending March 2019 – a growth of close to six per cent.

New Zealand is Queensland's second-largest international market, with visitors from New Zealand generating $563 million a year for the state's economy.

In fact, a record 28 million tourists spent more than ever before in Queensland last year with the latest data released by Tourism Research Today showing visitors spent $24.8 billion in the Sunshine State in the year ended June 2019.

House market

The Sunshine Coast's housing market appears to have responded positively to the better finance conditions since mid-year with prices firming over the September quarter.

With record low interest rates as well as a relaxation of the lending environment, the region's median house price increased by 1.8 per cent to $580,000 over the period.

While the volume of sales reduced somewhat over the quarter, the Sunshine Coast's on the market indicators remained relatively stable over the year.

No doubt this is the reason why the region's median house price growth recorded a nil result for the year ending September.

The Noosa region, however, recorded a median house price fall of 15.4 per cent over the quarter to $638,500.

Noosa's median house price is now below both the Brisbane and the Gold Coast local government areas.

That said, Noosa was the standout performer for the past year or two and recorded an overall median house price growth of 35.2 per cent over the past five years.

The Sunshine Coast also performed well over the same period, with its median house price up 23.6 per cent.

Solid performers over the quarter included Coolumb Beach, Currimundi and Little Mountain.

Unit market

The Sunshine Coast unit market also had a solid quarter with its median price up by 3.1 per cent to $420,000.

In a statistical coincidence, the median unit price in Noosa increased by the same percentage as the fall in its house median – up by 15.4 per cent to hit the highest major region unit price in the state at $650,000.

Not overly surprising, the total number of listings as well as stock on market in both regions has fallen over the year in line with these improved median price results.

The unit stock on market in Noosa has reduced 9.6 per cent to 7.4 per cent over the year ending September, while the unit stock on market on the Sunshine Coast has fallen from 9.3 per cent to 8.1 per cent over the same period.

Similar to the housing market, the unit market is robust in Coolumb Beach where its median price increased by 6.6 per cent to $422,000 over the quarter.

In Noosa, it is the prestigious locations of Noosa Heads and Noosaville which are powering the overall strong unit market conditions.

The median unit price in Noosa Heads rose by 7.1 per cent to $910,000 and in Noosaville it soared by 17.4 per cent to be just shy of $505,000 over the quarter.

Rental market

The Sunshine Coast region's rental market vacancies increased marginally by 0.3 per cent, placing the region within the healthy range at 3.3 per cent.

Weekly median rents increased by 1.1 per cent year on year for three-bedroom houses and 1.4 per cent for two-bedroom units, both climbing by $5 more per week than the previous year.

The residential vacancy rate in Noosa, however, increased to 4.4 per cent, from 2 per cent the previous quarter.

This unusual jump is likely due to seasonal factors impacting the Noosa region given its dominant tourism sector.

The comparatively high price of property in Noosa, compared to its median rental prices in the $420 to $540 range, means its gross rental yields are 3.9 per cent for houses and 3.4 per cent for units.

On the Sunshine Coast, however, investors are enjoying healthy yields of 4.1 per cent for houses and 4.6 per cent for units.

Rising prices boost expectations

The Fraser Coast house market has seen modest moves and mixed results recently, however a rise in the median price and tightening of some metrics should boost long-term confidence.

That said, the measures for units are a little less positive.

The annual median house price to September 2019 increased 1.6 per cent to $325,000 across 1,560 sales. While modest, this was the second-best result for the regions studied by this report, with Gladstone's 3.7 per cent rise being the most outstanding.

In comparison, unit values retracted 0.6 per cent over the year to reach an annual median of $253,500 across 320 transactions.

Fraser Coast housing's stock on market figure rose by 0.9 points to reach 10.4 per cent for the year to September 2019. For the unit and townhouse market, stock on market fell 2.8 per cent to record 9.1 per cent over the same comparison.

For houses, the local authority saw total listing numbers rise to 4,104 in the year to September 2019, compared to the 3,714 listings in the previous year – a solid 10.5 per cent increase.

Median days on market for houses tightened from 70 in 2019 to 63 in 2018 for the year to September. Median vendor discount remained flat at -5.4 per cent.

For attached housing, median days on market dropped substantially from 106 in the year to September 2018, to 87 days for the same period in 2019. The median vendor discount for units and townhouses also tightened from -5.2 per cent in 2018 to -4.6 per cent in 2019.

Both of these results reflect a strengthening in position for sellers.

Regional Economy and Infrastructure Investment

A new regional plan is being prepared to boost economic opportunities and create jobs for the Wide Bay Burnett region, according the State Government.

"The current regional plan for the Wide Bay Burnett area, which comprises the Fraser Coast, North Burnett and South Burnett council areas, Bundaberg, Gympie and Cherbourg was released in 2011, and is the next region to undergo a review, given the significant change in the area," said the QLD Minister for Planning, Cameron Dick.

"The new plan will have a tailored economic strategy which aligns land use, infrastructure and industry development to help support the expected growth in this region."

A power upgrade has also been flagged by a $9 million State Government investment.

The project is designed to facilitate connection for a soon-to-be-built shell forging plant in Maryborough.

The government said the $60 million Rheinmetall NIOA Munitions facility will create up to 100 advanced manufacturing jobs for Maryborough.

There's also been an announcement of a jointly-funded $107 million package to tackle a notorious stretch of highway south of Maryborough.

The project will see a new road built east of Tiaro and around flood-prone areas like Black Swamp Creek within five years.

As well as increasing accessibility, the upgrade is expected to add hundreds of jobs to the region.

Market Outlook

The future of the house and unit sales markets will be steady on balance. Expect value gains to be long-term. In addition, evidence indicates detached housing will enjoy

HOUSE MARKET (<2400m2)

The overall housing market on the Fraser coast is stabilising at the bottom end of the price cycle according to our analysis.

The quarterly median house price to September 2019 was $318,000 reflecting a fall of 0.6 per cent. This rounds out four consecutive of quarterly price falls over the past year.

Five-year median house gains were 8.3 per cent which is considered a soft outcome for the timeframe. The median price in 2014 was $300,000.

General Activity

The most active price range for houses was for houses below $350,000 which represented 65 per cent of the volume of sales for the September 2019 quarter.

Quarterly sale volumes to September 2019 was 251 which is a modest 0.6 reduction on the previous quarter.

Total listing numbers have fallen over the year. The total number to September 2019 was 3,714 – which is a reduction on the 4,104 recorded for the year to September 2018.

UNIT MARKET

According to our analysis, the Fraser Coast unit market has passed its peak and is within the softening phase of its price cycle.

The quarterly median unit price to September 2019 was $237,000 which reflected a 5.2 per cent drop across 49 transactions. Like houses, this continues a trend of four consecutive quarterly falls across the past 12 months.

The medium-term reflected relatively flat performance, with the five-year median unit price seeing a 2.5 per cent fall over the half decade. The median unit price was $260,000 in 2014.

Total listing numbers for units have risen over the year. Total annual listing to September 2019 was 562 as compared to 541 listings to September 2018.

The most active price range for units in the LGA was below $250,000 which represented around 56 per cent of the volume of sales for the September 2019 quarter.

The September 2019 quarter sale volumes was 49 – a 43.7 per cent reduction on the June 2019 result which was 87.

Market conditions

Evidence suggests demand for units has continued to soften. Given the rise in listing numbers, fall in annual median price and flat five-year performance, it's likely the slow unit market will persist for some time.

RENTAL MARKET

Median weekly rent rose across a number of dwelling types according to the annual measure, while continued low vacancy suggests the trend could be set to continue.

Three-bedroom houses recorded a median weekly rent of $320 (up $20 for the year) across 244 new rental bonds (down 34 bonds for the year). Two-bedroom units had a median of $265 (up $10) across 125 new rental bonds (down 58), while three-bedroom townhouses came in at approximately $360 (up $20 for the year) across 24 new rental bonds (down 7).

Quarterly house yields rose slightly over the quarter increasing from 5.0 per cent in June 2019 to 5.2 per cent in September 2019.

Quarterly unit yields rose 0.3 per cent to record a figure 5.8 per cent in September 2019.

Vacancy rates remain tight on the Fraser Coast coming in at 1.3 per cent for the September 2019 quarter – a continuation of the below-two per cent rates that began in the December 2017 quarter.

While the rental market is subject to seasonal fluctuation, it has remained overall firm.

Long recovery ahead

The Bundaberg region is likely to see modest property price performance for the foreseeable future.

The Bundaberg house market has passed its peak pricing and appears well entrenched in the falling phase of the cycle.

This contrasted slightly with the area's unit market which is considered to be steady, but in an overall rising market based on the metrics.

Bundaberg's rental market displayed relative strength – particularly in terms vacancy rates – however median rents held steady. Rental returns to house investors stayed flat while yields for units rose convincingly.

Local Economy and Infrastructure Investment

Tourism continues to be in focus as a jobs creator in the Bundaberg Region. The area is expected to benefit from a planned State Government funded marketing campaign focussed on bringing European visitors to Queensland's northern coasts, and highlighting the Great Barrier Reef.

Tourism Industry Development Minister Kate Jones said strong partnerships with reef-based Regional Tourism Organisations (RTOs) and councils had supported the marketing push.

"This is about creating jobs in the tourism industry," she said.

"Already one in ten Queenslanders are employed in this sector because we've invested in tourism to grow our economy. But we know there's room for growth and that's what this campaign is about."

In addition, the new Mon Repos Turtle Centre has been completed in time for this year's turtle season.

The State Government said more than $22 million had been invested in the redevelopment project which is set to continue boosting tourism interest in the region.

There was also a recent tech industry announcement of a $1.9 million agricultural waste-to-bioenergy project that will power electric vehicles within the Bundaberg Regional Council area.

Biogas company Energy360 has been awarded a state grant to develop a small-scale biogas facility in Bundaberg that will transform agricultural waste into bioenergy.

The Bundaberg facility will have the capacity to convert up to 4,000 tonnes of waste each year into around 830MWh of power to charge electric vehicles.

Market Outlook

The Bundaberg residential property market has been a slow performer for the past decade, with the regional economy in need of further comprehensive business and infrastructure stimulus to promote property investment.

The road toward convincing property price rises appears to be a long one, although the relative strength of the rental market coupled with a continued push to drive the tourism dollar could filter into better real estate outcomes sooner.

HOUSE MARKET (<2400m²)

Bundaberg's median house price continued its steady quarterly retraction throughout the past 12 months.

The median fell 1.0 per cent in the September quarter. While negative, it was a better result than the 3.8 per cent fall during the previous quarter.

The annual median house price to the end of September 2019 softened too, recording a 4.2 per cent fall to $273,000 across 993 sales. This price retraction placed Bundaberg as the second weakest performer for houses among the LGAs studied for this report, behind only Rockhampton.

The five-year growth outcome was also negative, down 2.5 per cent for the half decade. The median for houses back then was $280,000.

The stock on market is the percentage of dwellings that have been listed for sale over the past 12 months. Bundaberg's result for houses to September 2019 was 9.3 per cent – an increase on the previous year's result which was 8.5 per cent.

General Activity

Annual market trend indicators tell the story of a subdued housing that appeared to be entrenched at the bottom of its price cycle for now.

Total annual house listing numbers increased by 8.7 per cent from 2,900 as at September 2018 to 3,152 for the 2019 result.

Median days on market was 62 in the year to September 2019 which was a slight tightening on the 66 days for the same measure in 2018.

Sellers have held reasonably firm based on the median vendor discount. The figure for the 12 months to September 2019 was -5.9 per cent, just slightly more than the -5.4 per cent recorded for 2018.

UNIT MARKET

Quarterly unit prices continue the dramatic shifts we've seen in previous analysis.

The September quarter result was a 7.6 per cent fall across 51 transactions, but this followed on from a 19.8 per cent rise in the median price over the previous quarter. March 2019 had a 15.1 per cent drop while December 2018 recorded a 6.9 per cent rise.

Looking at annual data to September 2019, the median unit price fell 2.4 per cent to $249,000 across 208 sales. A poor result, but a long way from the worst recorded for the studied LGAs.

Total listings in the year to September 2019 was 522 representing a 25.5 per cent increase on last year's figure of 416. Stock on market for the same period was 9.0 per cent which is 2.4 percentage points lower than the same measure last year.

Median days on market for the year to September 2019 was 119 days – a decrease of 23 days compared to last year's result of 96 days.

Vendor discounting also tightened slightly with a figure of -5.5 per cent to September 2019, compared to -5.1 per cent to September 2018.

RENTAL MARKET

The Bundaberg rental market has maintained a healthy status although vacancy rates have relaxed somewhat. Vacancy rates in the September 2019 quarter hit 2.6 per cent which was a convincing rise from the 1.3 per cent recorded last quarter. That said, it is still a relatively good result in terms of tenant demand.

The five-year measure has seen unit prices retract. The annual median in September 2014 was $252,500 which means prices have fallen just 1.2 per cent over the past five years.

The Bundaberg rental market has maintained a healthy status although vacancy rates have relaxed somewhat.

Vacancy rates in the September 2019 quarter hit 2.6 per cent which was a convincing rise from the 1.3 per cent recorded last quarter. That said, it is still a relatively good result in terms of tenant demand.

Median rent for a three-bedroom house in the September quarter was $300 per week which has it holding steady from the previous period. The quarterly median rent for two-bedroom units remained at $240 per week.

The number of new bonds was up by 22 for three-bedroom houses between the September 2019 and June 2019 quarters, while bonds for two-bedroom units were down by 33 on the June 2019 quarter.

Median rental yields for houses saw no change over the quarter, coming in once again at 5.8 per cent.

Unit yields came in at 5.4 per cent in the September 2019 quarter – a strong rise on the 4.3 per cent in June 2019.

Gladstone growth number one in the state

After successive quarters, a glimpse of positive growth in December quarter 2018, and, indeed, years of median house price falls, the Gladstone housing market appears to have re-entered its long-awaited recovery phase.

In fact, its performance over the September quarter secured Gladstone the top spot for median house price growth for all major regions in the state.

Over the September quarter, Gladstone's median house price increased 11.8 per cent to $299,000.

The region also came in at number one for median house price growth over the year ending September.

Like the housing market, Gladstone's unit sector performed well over the year ending September.

So well, in fact, that it was number one for median price performance of all major regions, including Brisbane, in the state.

The median unit price in Gladstone increased 6.1 per cent over the year to $175,000.

With its residential vacancy rate also falling to just 1.8 per cent, it certainly seems that Gladstone's market recovery is under way.

Regional Economy and Infrastructure Investment

A new $350 million wind farm south-west of Gladstone, given the go-ahead by the Queensland Government and creating up to 150 construction jobs, will add to the big surge in wind power now coming on line in the state.

And it will produce most of its power overnight from its site on the Banana Range, an area known for its strong overnight winds.

Minister for Planning Cameron Dick said the Banana Range wind farm, located 20 kilometres west of Biloela, would provide a huge boost for the local economy.

"With up to 150 construction jobs and up to 15 ongoing jobs, the Banana Range wind farm will not only generate electricity for homes and businesses but will be an economic energy source for the surrounding region," he said.

"Besides the great environmental benefits for Queensland, investment in projects such as this also creates a flow-on economic effect for local businesses and assists in diversifying the town's economy."

In what is a first for Queensland, an early warning detection system has been placed in the water at the Port of Gladstone to find any traces of exotic marine pests.

Member for Gladstone Glenn Butcher said Queensland boasted some of Australia's and the world's best marine environments, but they were at risk from unwelcome visitors.

"Biosecurity Queensland has partnered with Queensland Port Authorities to deploy specially-designed detectors in the waters at the Ports of Cairns, Townsville, Mackay, Gladstone and Brisbane — all of which are close to natural heritage areas," he said.

"This partnership demonstrates that our port authorities are taking shared responsibility for marine biosecurity seriously."

Gladstone Region Mayor Matt Burnett has also welcomed the funding announcement from the State Government for the upgrade of the Gladstone to Monto Road between Nagoorin and Ubobo.

Gladstone Regional Council has been successful in securing a Department of Transport and Main Roads' contract to widen a section of the Gladstone to Monto Road.

Work on the final section of single sealed road between Nagoorin and Ubobo began recently.

"Council's road crews are currently clearing grass and excavating within the drains to prepare the road corridor for the double lane width," Cr Burnett said.

The project is expected to be finished in January 2020, weather permitting.

House Market

After successive quarters, a glimpse of positive growth in December quarter 2018, and, indeed, years of median house price falls, the Gladstone housing market appears to have re-entered its long-awaited recovery phase.

In fact, its performance over the September quarter secured Gladstone the top spot for median house price growth for all major regions in the state.

Over the September quarter, Gladstone's median house price increased 11.8 per cent to $299,000 with 94 house sales recorded over the period.

If that wasn't good enough news, the region came in number one for median house price growth over the year ending September as well, at growth of 3.7 per cent, which is a more solid indicator that the price falls may be at an end.

This market consolidation is apparent when assessing the region's on the market indicators with days on market drastically falling along with vendor discounting.

Last year, the median days on market was 84, but that metric has this year fallen to 55.

Likewise, the median vendor discount last year was 8.9 per cent but has dropped to 6.9 per cent this year.

While it is certainly time to celebrate some much-needed market strengthening, median house prices remain well below the level of five years ago.

In September 2014, the annual median house price was $400,000 versus $280,000 in the year ending September.

The median unit price in Gladstone increased 6.1 per cent over the year to $175,000.

However, the Gladstone unit sector still remains a very small part of the overall sales market in the region.

That said, days on market have also fallen dramatically over the past year – down from 95 to 66 days.

Rental Market

It certainly appears that all of the elements of a market recovery are in play, with Gladstone's rental market also strengthening.

The region's residential vacancy rate is now just 1.8 per cent to put it in the tight market range.

The downward trend in vacancy rate has been apparent for a number of years now with it reducing every year from 6.4 per cent in June 2017.

This significant reduction in rental supply is pushing median weekly rents, with rents for three-bedroom houses, three-bedroom townhouses and two-bedroom units all up over the year ending September.

The median weekly rent for three-bedroom houses and townhouses is now $240, and $180 for two-bedroom units.

Gladstone investors are correspondingly starting to see gross rental yields improve, with the median house yield now at 4.2 per cent.

The Advance Queensland strategy is expected to boost jobs growth over the next 20 years.

Recovery stalled

Revival of the Rockhampton market from the post-mining downturn has stalled somewhat, based on the latest set of results.

An overall improvement in the resources sector seemed to be a catalyst for tightening quarter-on-quarter rental vacancies. These looked to be establishing a foundation for long-term value growth.

Prospects for market improvement can be expected in years to come, but the most recent data shows a market that's working its way through a downturn.

The annual median house price softened over the past 12 months, as did the unit figure, and the five-year growth numbers were also disappointing.

Regional Economy and Infrastructure Investment

While Rockhampton's economy works toward recovery, there is a range of projects that will help boost the region's appeal and finances.

For starters, the $352 million Rookwood Weir is officially underway, with first works occurring 60 kilometres outside Rockhampton.

Queensland's Natural Resources Minister Dr Anthony Lynham said that Rockhampton Council crews have commenced work on the $7.5 million upgrade of Thirsty Creek Road.

The Thirsty Creek Road works will improve access into the weir site to accommodate higher traffic volumes, work crews and heavy equipment. The works are expected to be completed by July 2020.

Critical infrastructure work is also helping boost employment. More than 100 jobs will be supported as part of a $49 million rebuild of the Bouldercombe electricity substation.

The four-year project will support 112 jobs and involves replacement of all primary equipment such as circuit breakers, structures and foundations as well as the installation of a new transformer on site.

The substation was first built in the 1970s and has supported industrial and residential growth in the area for more than 40 years.

A partnership between the State Government and Central Queensland University (CQU) is set to deliver an advanced technology and innovation centre in Rockhampton. The works are part of the new Advance Queensland strategy designed to create jobs in the agricultural technology, mining and manufacturing industries in regional Queensland.

The Advance Queensland strategy is expected to boost jobs growth over the next 20 years.

Member for Rockhampton, Barry O'Rourke, said the $2.8 million partnership with CQU was a great win for Central Queensland.

"This is about preparing local students for great careers in mining, agriculture and manufacturing and helping them get out there into the workforce," he said.

Market Outlook

The 2019 outlook for the sales market remains one where positive moves will be long-term.

Our analysis indicated house prices have stabilised, but remain in the overall softening sector of the property price cycle.

Conversely, unit prices appear to have passed through the bottom of the cycle and are in the recovery phase. That said, the turnaround is also expected to be steady.

Despite the recent poor numbers, industry observers remain positive about the long-term outlook for Rockhampton.

HOUSE MARKET (<2400m2)

The September 2019 quarterly median house price dropped 5.7 per cent to $250,000 across 149 sales – a fairly disappointing result. Rockhampton had the second-largest quarterly fall in median house price of all LGAs studied for this Queensland Market Monitor report.

This quarterly outcome aligned with Rockhampton's annual result. For the 12-months to September 2019, houses recorded a median sale price of $250,000 – which is a 5.7 per cent fall on the previous year – across 813 transactions. Our analysis revealed this to be the largest percentage fall in house prices for the period among the regions studied.

The five-year measure showed a highly disappointing outcome. Median house values have retracted 16.8 per cent since September 2014 when the figure sat at $300,500.

General Activity

The total number of house listings in Rockhampton for the 12 months to September 2019 was 2,254, which was a 12 per cent rise on the previous year's 2,020 listings.

Stock on market for the period was 7.8 per cent which was higher than last year's 7.2 per cent result.

The median vendor discount for the 12 months to September 2019 was 9.0 per cent which is greater than the 8.3 per cent outcome to September 2018.

Median days on market for the 12 month period was 69 – a drop of two days on the previous year's number.

The majority of houses that traded in Rockhampton over the September quarter were priced below $350,000. This sector made up 76 per cent of all transactions.

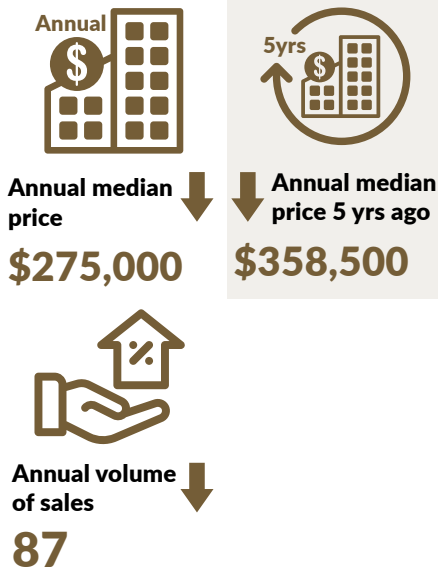

UNIT MARKET

The unit market in Rockhampton continued to show little improvement with even longer-term owners suffering from a loss in values.

The 12-month median price fell 5.8 per cent to $275,000 across 87 sales.

The total number of unit listings in Rockhampton for the 12 months to September 2019 was 252 – a huge 44 per cent increase on the previous 12-month period, which had 175 listings.

UNIT MARKET

RENTAL MARKET

Stock on market for the period was 5.3 per cent which was much tighter than the 7.3 per cent results for the year to September 2018.

Median days on market blew out substantially this year. The 12 months to September 2019 recorded a 105 day median, while the previous year saw 80 days.

The annual median vendor discount to September 2019 was -10.3 per cent, which was a substantial shift from the previous year's figure of -6.9 per cent.

Medium-term performance in the unit sector was extremely disappointing with the median price having fallen a whopping 23.3 per cent compared to September 2014 when the figure sat at $385,500.

RENTAL MARKET

The rental market in Rockhampton has turned quickly based on quarterly comparisons. The vacancy rate for the September 2019 quarter was 3.6 per cent – a massive jump on the previous quarter's vacancy rate of 1.5 per cent.

It's also the highest quarterly vacancy rate since March quarter 2018, and propels the city's rental market into 'weak' status.

This will be a disappointing outcome for investors, who had been watching the tightening vacancy rates set a foundation for future price growth.

Median rent for a three-bedroom house in the year to September was $290 per week – a $20 per week rise compared to the previous year.

For two-bedroom units, the annual median was $220 per week which was a rise of $10 per week based from the previous year's result.

Gross rental yields for Rockhampton investment houses remained flat, coming in at 6.0 per cent in September quarter 2019 – a slight rise on the 5.7 per cent in June quarter 2019.

Mackay market gathers momentum

It certainly seems that Mackay's rising market has put down solid roots, with its housing market posting solid results for another quarter.

The Mackay median house price strengthened by 3.9 per cent to $360,00 over the quarter – the second best of all major regions in the state.

Plus, Mackay's yearly price increase of 1.5 per cent took out third spot in the state.

While the region's unit market continues to fluctuate each quarter, over the year it has posted solid median price growth of 4.4 per cent.

There is no doubt that Mackay's rental market is solid, though, with vacancy rates at just 1.7 per cent and rents growing strongly over the year.

All of these market factors, as well as its myriad major infrastructure projects, are no doubt some of the reasons why the region was recently named in a list of top 10 regional property investment locations.

Regional Economy and Infrastructure Investment

Mackay's biggest ever road project has hit another milestone, with the $497 million Mackay Ring Road – Stage 1's largest overpass now complete.

Crews recently placed the final 31-tonne bridge deck on the Mackay Ring Road's new overpass at Ooralea, putting the project on the home stretch.

The Federal Government also recently brought forward funding for the second stage of the project.

Deputy Prime Minister and Federal Minister for Infrastructure, Transport and Regional Development Michael McCormack said the Ring Road will be a game-changer for the Mackay region.

"The 11.3-kilometre bypass will provide an alternative route for freight and traffic to improve accessibility of urban sections of the Bruce Highway, which means motorists will reach their destinations sooner and safer," Mr McCormack said.

"This major infrastructure project, requiring 159 decks and 68 piles, will enhance the capability of Mackay's road network and reduce travel times with the removal of 10 sets of traffic signals."

More than 1,200 local workers have been inducted on the project to-date, according to the State Government.

Mackay was also recently named as one of the top 10 places to consider buying property around Australia in 2020, with long-term capital gains expected in each location.

The region's Qantas pilot training academy, construction of the Mackay Ring Road, around $1.3 billion in funding for road infrastructure upgrades in the Mackay region between now and 2022, and the rebuilding of Cyclone Yasi-impacted Lindeman Island resort, which is in the Mackay local government area, were all identified as positives for the local property market.

Three key projects are on track for completion, which will facilitate future trade and connect the Port of Mackay with key road infrastructure.

The $2.9m extension of Edmund Casey Drive will improve port operational efficiencies, provide additional emergency access and create future land development opportunities.

Two other key infrastructure investment projects by North Queensland Bulk Ports Corporation (NQBP) are also under way as part of an infrastructure investment program costing almost $6 million and supporting up to 120 local jobs.

House Market

It certainly seems that Mackay's rising market has put down solid roots, with its housing market posting solid results for another quarter.

In fact, Mackay's median house price performance over the September quarter has been classified as the second best of all major regions behind Gladstone.

The Mackay median house price strengthened by 3.9 per cent to $360,00 over the quarter.

After three quarters of growth, and one of negative growth, over the past year, it's little surprise that its median price change over the period was positive also.

Plus, Mackay's yearly price increase of 1.5 per cent took out third spot in the state.

Unlike Gladstone, however, where market indicators seem to easily point to a market shift, in Mackay, the metrics are relatively static compared to last year.

Standout suburbs over the past year have included South and West Mackay as well as Beaconsfield and Mount Pleasant.

Mackay's median house price remains about 15 per cent below its level five years, which, when coupled with its infrastructure program, is no doubt attracting investors near and far.

Unit Market

Because of the small size of the Mackay unit market, median prices tend to be very volatile from one quarter to another, with no exception this period.

Over the September quarter, statistically speaking, its median unit price dropped by 27.6 per cent to $191,500.

However, that figure is based off a total of 45 sales, which were likely to be in the affordable price bracket, thus dropping the overall median down.

The more reliable statistic to assess the Mackay unit market is the yearly median result due to the higher number of sales recorded.

Over the year ending September, the Mackay median unit price actually increased by 4.4 per cent to $235,000, which is a much brighter result than the quarterly figure.

The indicators for the unit market, however, show a sector that is holding its ground, but far from firing on all cylinders.

Rental Market

Like so many parts of regional Queensland, the Mackay rental market is well in the tight range with its residential vacancy rate of just 1.7 per cent.

Property managers have reported an increase in residents due to a rise in employment opportunities, contributing to the region's economy.

While there has been some fluctuation in vacancy rates over the past year, there is no denying that Mackay's rental market is in much better shape than it was a few years ago when the vacancy rate hit 6.4 per cent.

With a number of major infrastructure projects on the go, the region's rental market is likely to become tighter still over the short to medium term.

The median weekly rents being achieved in Mackay are now the highest of all major centres in regional Queensland.

Rents have increased strongly over the past year, with the median weekly rent for a three-bedroom house now $360, for three-bedroom townhouses it is currently $350 and for two-bedroom units it is $270.

With these types of rents being achieved, it's no great shock to learn that gross rental yields are high.

The gross rental yield for houses is 5.2 per cent and for units it is 7.3 per cent – the second highest in the state.

RENTAL MARKET

Like so many parts of regional Queensland, the Mackay rental market is well in the tight range with its residential vacancy rate at just 1.7 per cent. Property managers have reported an increase in residents due to a rise in employment opportunities, contributing to the region's economy.

Townsville market recovering

Cyclone Oma's impact on the Townsville sales market appears to have been short-lived, with house prices stabilising.

While in the June quarter the median house price fell by 4.7 per cent, over the September period the result was a more modest fall of just 0.3 per cent, which has clawed back the previous reduction.

The quarterly median house price in Townsville is now $310,000.

Importantly, the number of sales has also stabilised over the quarter.

The unit market continues to be relatively soft, however, with prices continuing to reduce along with the volume of sales.

Following on from a fall of eight per cent last quarter, the Townsville median unit price reduced by a further 1.6 per cent in the September period – albeit an improvement from three months ago.

The rental sector, perhaps unsurprisingly, continues to be strong with a healthy vacancy rate and rising rents.

Investors of Townsville real estate are also enjoying some of the best gross rental yields in regional Queensland.

Regional Economy and Infrastructure Investment

Townsville's road boom is set to keep rolling with expressions of interest to design and build the city's $180 million missing ring road link.

The Australian and Queensland Governments made the announcement for Townsville Ring Road Stage 5 following another milestone on the Haughton River project south of Townsville, which now has all pre-cast concrete piles manufactured and onsite, ready for driving into the bridge structures.

Queensland Transport and Main Roads Minister Mark Bailey said making sure jobs would go to locals and local businesses would be a key focus of the EOI, with up to 200 jobs on offer.

"This is the final piece of the puzzle for Townsville's Ring Road project, making sure that we're ready for the city's growth and that locals and businesses can access vital services and work," he said.

The project will duplicate the existing, six-kilometre, two-lane section between Vickers Bridge and Shaw Road to four lanes and add a new connection at Beck Drive.

The design and construction contract will be awarded to the successful contractor next year, with shovels to hit the ground in mid-2021.

Planning has also started on Riverway Drive Stage 2, with technical assessments and traffic modelling to be carried out early next year.

Townsville's building and construction sector has been given a boost with the expansion of steel building product manufacturer Metroll following the settlement of land in Bohle Industrial Estate.

Member for Townsville Scott Stewart said the settlement of Lot 22 at the Economic Development Queensland (EDQ) industrial precinct was a sign of confidence in the region.

"Metroll's acquisition of this industrial land is expected to support 12 local jobs and will further boost Townsville's building and construction sector," Mr Stewart said.

"The company's new manufacturing site in Bohle Industrial Estate will be three times the size of their current Townsville site.

“The 10,970m2 block will allow Metroll to expand their business, increase their workforce and provide greater services to our region.

“Increasing access to industrial land provides businesses such as Metroll with the essential building blocks to expand and grow regional economies, resulting in more local jobs for places like Townsville.”

Major rail projects worth almost $305 million are driving a regional rail jobs boom across Queensland generally.

The largest investment – the $100 million North Coast line upgrade between Townsville and Rockhampton – started construction in July and will support more than 300 construction jobs.

House market

The impact of Cyclone Oma on the Townsville house market appears to have been and gone with the latest round of data showing stable conditions.

While in the June quarter, the median house price fell by 4.7 per cent, over the September period the result was a more modest fall of just 0.3 per cent, which has clawed back the previous reduction.

The quarterly median house price in Townsville is now $310,000.

The better market conditions are also evidenced by the stable number of sales over the quarter.

It should be noted that Townsville records the highest number of house sales per quarter of any major region north of the Sunshine Coast, which is a signpost of the depth and stability of its market.

Likewise, for the year ending September, the region posted a small median house price fall of 1.6 per cent.

Townsville’s on the market indicators such as days on market and listing numbers are also stable compared to the same period last year.

A solid performer over the September quarter was Kirwan, which recorded 52 house sales as well as a median house price increase of 3.3 per cent to $310,000.

Unit market

While the house market appears to have rebounded since February’s weather event, the same unfortunately can’t be said for Townsville’s unit sector.

Following on from a fall of eight per cent last quarter, the unit price reduced by a further 1.6 per cent in the September period – albeit an improvement from three months ago.

The quarterly number of sales also increased about 9.1 per cent from the previous quarter, however, the Townsville unit market is only a small proportion of overall dwelling sales in the region.

However, over the year ending September, the median unit price reduced five per cent and is down 13.7 per cent over the past five years.

In line with these relatively weak market conditions, the number of unit listings has increased by about 10 per cent over the past year.

Likewise, the days on market have increased from 61 to 76 since last year.

Rental market

The short-term impact of Cyclone Oma on the local rental market appears to be dissipating, with an increase in vacancy rates over the quarter.

The vacancy rate increased from 2.2 per cent in June to 3.2 per cent in September, which remains in the healthy range of demand and supply.

Weekly rents in Townsville, on the other hand, have strengthened significantly over the past year as is common when a sales market is relatively soft.

The median rent for a three-bedroom house has increased from $290 to $320 per week over the year to September.

Weekly rents for two-bedroom units and three-bedroom townhouses have grown from $235 to $270 and $310 to $350 respectively over the same period.

These robust weekly rents as well as lower property prices means investors are enjoying some of the best gross rental yields in regional Queensland.

The gross rental yield for houses is now 5.4 per cent, while it is an impressive 6.2 per cent for units.

Sales flat but rental market soaring

The Cairns sales market continued to record soft conditions as well as median price reductions over the September quarter.

However, metrics such as days on market, stock levels and vendor discounting have stayed relatively steady, which is potentially a sign of a turnaround in the short to medium term.

The median house price in Cairns reduced by 5.2 per cent to $395,000 over the quarter to now represent the second most affordable major tourism location in the state.

However, while the median house price recorded a fall over the quarter, over the year ending September it posted a rise of 1.2 per cent to $410,000.

Over the September quarter, the Cairns median unit price reduced by 8.5 per cent to hit $215,000.

However, while its sales market is clearly flat, the region's rental market is soaring with a record low vacancy rate of just 0.9 per cent.

Correspondingly, rents are increasing, and investors are enjoying impressive gross rental yields.

Regional Economy and Infrastructure Investment

As well as its tourism sector, the Cairns region is benefitting from a number of economic stimulus programs.

Cairns has been selected as one of two regional sites for a multimillion-dollar investment to boost jobs in Far North Queensland and enhance the region's reputation as an agricultural export hot spot.

The Premier recently announced that Air Freight Handling Services (AFHS) had been selected to establish a Regional Trade Distribution Centre (RTDC) in Cairns.

"This will supercharge rapid airfreight access for agricultural producers," the Premier said.

"It means graziers and growers will have easier access to export markets and that means jobs."

The centre is expected to boost access to markets in Asia, Europe and other global locations.

As well as creating jobs, the centre will allow North Queensland's fruit and seafood industries, along with a range of other industries, improved access to international markets, which in turn will have a flow-on benefit to regional communities

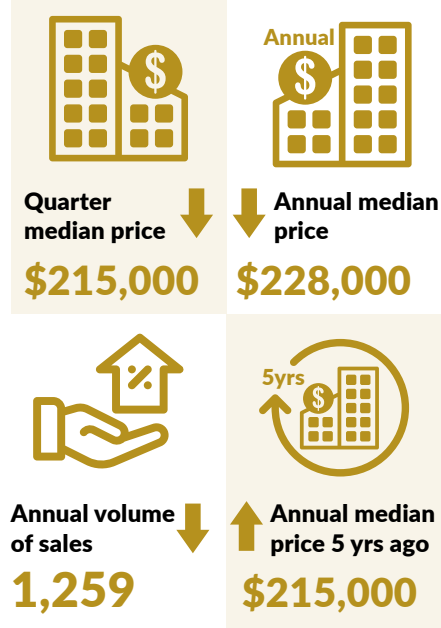

AFHS anticipates that construction of the state-of-the-art 3,400 square metre facility at Cairns International Airport will start in the second quarter of 2020 and will take about 13 months.

A new five-star hotel has also opened its doors in the heart of the Cairns cultural precinct, which will support 150 tourism jobs.

Bailey is Crystalbrook's second five-star hotel to open in the city in the past 12 months, with the first venture – Riley – opening in 2018 and another luxury offering – Flynn – expected early next year.

By the end of 2020, the group's collection of properties will have added more than 800 hotel rooms to Cairns, creating 3,500 jobs and injecting more than $900 million into the local economy.

The second stage of the multimillion-dollar Mareeba Airport upgrade was officially opened recently, which will see more aviation jobs, training opportunities and a wide range of economic benefits delivered to the far north.

The $23 million project is expected to create economic flow into Mareeba, the Shire and Tablelands, and support at least 200 jobs as a result.

House Market

The moderation in the Cairns housing market continued over the September quarter with median prices falling once again.

The median house price in Cairns reduced by 5.2 per cent to $395,000 to now represent the second most affordable major tourism location in the state.

However, while the median house price recorded a fall over the quarter, over the year ending September it posted a rise of 1.2 per cent to $410,000.

Sales activity continues to trend lower, however, with the volume of house sales over the year reducing by nearly 20 per cent.

The number of listings has also increased over the year – up 11 per cent – while days on market as well as vendor discounting has reduced marginally over the same period.

Second only to the Fraser Coast, Cairns is now offering excellent value for both homebuyers and investors.

While the reduction in activity meant that many suburbs didn't record enough sales to produce a reliable median house price, standout performers over the quarter were Bentley Park, up 15.9 per cent to $371,000, and Redlynch which recorded growth of 5 per cent to $530,000.

Unit Market

There is no doubt that the Cairns unit market bore the brunt of softer market conditions in 2019.

Over the September quarter, its median unit price reduced by 8.5 per cent to hit $215,000.

That median unit price is now the second most affordable major region in Queensland, behind Mackay.

However, it's fair to say that the Cairns unit sector is more mature than Mackay's, which should augur well for a future market turnaround.

While unit prices have reduced in Cairns, days on market, as well as stock levels and vendor discounting, have remained relatively static over the year ending September.

Such metrics are perhaps why the Cairns median unit price has reduced by only 0.9 per cent over the year.

The volatility of the unit market means over the quarter many locations didn't record enough sales for a solid median price to be calculated or variable sale prices saw prices jump up or down in an unreliable way.

Over the year, however, some solid performers included Cairns City, Freshwater and Yorkeys Knob.

Rental Market

While the Cairns house and unit sales markets might seem like a temporary tale of woe, the same can't be said for its rental sector, which is now officially the tightest of all major regions in the state.

Over the September quarter, Cairns vacancies were at an historical record low for the region, reporting 0.9 per cent for the quarter.

Correspondingly, weekly median rents were up year on year across three-bedroom houses, three-bedroom units and three-bedroom townhouses, with the latter reporting the highest increase of 5.3 per cent.

The combination of increasing rents and lower property prices means investors in Cairns are enjoying rental yields that Sydneysiders and Melbournites can only dream about.

The gross house rental yield was 5.2 per cent for the September quarter and for units it was an impressive 7.5 per cent – the highest of all major regions in the state.
